I. Background

Following the approval of the National Anti-Corruption Strategy 2020–2024, Decree-Law no. 109-E/2021 was published in the Diário da República on December 9, 2021. This decree created the National Anti-Corruption Mechanism (MENAC) and approved the General Anti-Corruption Prevention Regime (RGPC).

With the objective of preventing, detecting, and sanctioning acts of corruption and related offences, the RGPC establishes for the obligated entities—both public and private—the duty to adopt and implement a Compliance Program that must include, at a minimum, the following elements: (i) a corruption and related offences risk prevention plan; (ii) a code of conduct; (iii) a whistleblowing channel; and (iv) a training program.

In line with the EDP Group's commitment to ethics and integrity in all business activities and partnerships, the Group has developed and implemented mechanisms in this area through a Specific Compliance Program—the Integrity/Anti-Corruption Compliance Program—which applies to the Group's various companies. This program reinforces the general principles of conduct and duties of the companies, their employees, and business partners with respect to unlawful acts, corrupt practices, or related offences, as defined in the EDP Group's Integrity Policy.

As a result of the work carried out over recent years, the EDP Group's Compliance Management System and its Integrity/Anti-Corruption Compliance Program have been formally recognized through the achievement and maintenance of certifications under the ISO 37301 – Compliance Management Systems and ISO 37001 – Anti-Bribery Management Systems, issued by AENOR, an accredited certification body.

This EDP Group Corruption and Related Offences Risk Prevention Plan (RPP) is intended to comply with the obligations set forth in the RGPC, while also reflecting the ongoing work developed under the existing system and the experience gained from the implementation of the first RPP, initially issued in 2022. This Plan is based on an analysis of the activities of the different companies within the EDP Group, identifying and classifying the factors that may expose these entities to acts of corruption and related offences, as well as the existing control mechanisms designed to mitigate such risks.

II. Overview of the EDP Group

1. The EDP Group and its Context

The EDP Group is a vertically integrated multinational utility company with over 40 years of history. It has established a strong presence in the global energy landscape, operating across the European, American, and APAC markets. With more than 12,500 employees, EDP is active across the entire electricity value chain—generation, transmission, distribution, and supply—as well as in the natural gas supply business.

In addition to these core activities, the Group is also involved in complementary areas such as engineering, laboratory testing, professional training, energy services, and asset management.

The mission of the EDP Group is to promote a better tomorrow and contribute to decarbonization, with a firm commitment to achieving 100% green energy by 2030 and reaching carbon neutrality by 2040. The vision of the EDP Group is to lead the energy transition to create superior value, strengthening its commitment to a greener and more sustainable future, as well as creating value for all its stakeholders. As for its core values, the EDP Group is guided by a human-centered organizational culture, grounded in integrity, competence, excellence, responsibility, creativity, and the promotion of quality of life.

Since 2024, the EDP Group's operating model is based on a matrix structure composed of Platforms, Regions, Business Enablement Functions (BEFs), and Global Business Services (GBS). This model aims to ensure an integrated presence of EDP across different markets and a simplified governance model, with clear decision-making guidelines and responsibilities.

Platforms and Regions coexist to collaboratively drive results and act in a unified manner in the market, ensuring integrated guidance and cross-functional capabilities. BEFs simplify functional support through a single Corporate Center, while GBS develop and deliver a portfolio of high-quality services to drive efficiency, consistency, and cost optimization across the Group.

EDP, S.A. operates as a holding company, with the mission of promoting, coordinating, and managing transversal initiatives and activities aimed at enhancing the performance of all companies within the Group. Since 1997, EDP, S.A. has been listed on Euronext Lisbon, and EDP Renováveis is also publicly listed.

In Portugal, the EDP Group carries out activities in generation, energy management, distribution, and supply of electricity, as well as in the supply of natural gas. It complements its operations with services in engineering, laboratory testing, technological innovation, asset management, and cultural and social initiatives.

2. EDP's Commitment

The EDP Group is committed to conducting its activities in strict compliance with all applicable laws and regulations, while also promoting responsible conduct guided by the highest standards of ethics and integrity.

Compliance with national and international legislation applicable to each EDP Group entity, as well as with internally approved rules and policies, is mandatory. No acts or omissions that violate or disregard such norms will be tolerated.

Accordingly, the EDP Group adopts a zero-tolerance policy toward any conduct that is inconsistent with legal and regulatory standards and guarantees full cooperation with the authorities in the effort to eradicate such behavior.

In this context, and in line with the new matrix organizational structure, the Ethics & Compliance (E&C) function of the EDP Group operates as a Business Enablement Function (BEF). The E&C BEF is responsible for issuing guidelines and implementing procedures related to integrity matters, with the aim of preventing and mitigating the risk of criminal practices within the EDP Group's activities, such as corruption, misconduct in public office, money laundering, or insider trading. In addition, the EDP Group enforces control measures to detect such incidents and defines procedures to report them to the competent authorities.

The EDP Group also adopts the necessary procedures to ensure that its activities are aligned with the applicable legal and regulatory standards, in order to prevent any violations of the rules to which its entities and employees are subject.

Furthermore, the EDP Group is committed to periodically reviewing and updating its internal procedures and mechanisms and doing so immediately whenever they are found to be inadequate, thereby ensuring alignment with legal requirements and market best practices.

Entities within the EDP Group only enter and formalize business arrangements with third parties, partners, and clients that comply with their respective national laws and international best practices, adopt their own compliance procedures aligned with the EDP Group's internal policies and standards, and commit to upholding social responsibility practices within their value chain. Any actions that may constitute, or create the appearance of constituting, a criminal offense or breach of legal, regulatory, or integrity standards to which the EDP Group is bound are strictly prohibited.

III. Corruption and Related Offences Risk Prevention Plan

1. Scope of the Application

The Portuguese Penal Code establishes the crime of corruption in the context of public functions (Articles 372<sup>o</sup> to 374<sup>o</sup>-A), distinguishing the applicable penalties based on whether the conduct is passive or active—that is, whether the act or omission is carried out by the person who offers or promises an undue advantage, or by the person who accepts or requests it. In addition to corruption in the public sector, criminal liability for corruption committed in international business transactions and in the private sector is also provided for in specific legislation.

In general terms, corruption can be defined as the misuse of delegated power for purposes other than those for which it was granted—that is, the use of authority for private gain.

Other criminal offenses closely associated with corruption are also defined under criminal law, as they may similarly undermine the proper functioning of institutions and markets. Annex I to this Risk Prevention Plan (RPP) lists the criminal offenses related to corruption and associated infractions for which private sector legal entities may be held criminally liable, in accordance with Article 11<sup>o</sup> of the Penal Code.

The General Anti-Corruption Prevention Regime (RGPC) applies to legal entities based in Portugal that employ 50 or more workers, as well as to branches located in Portugal of foreign legal entities that employ 50 or more workers.

Taking this scope of application as a reference, the following EDP Group companies have been identified as entities subject to compliance with the aforementioned Regime:

- EDP, S.A.;
- EDP GEM PORTUGAL, S. A.;
- LABELEC - Estudos, Desenvolvimento e Actividades Laboratoriais, S.A.;
- EDP Gestão Produção Energia, S.A.;
- E-Redes – Distribuição de Eletricidade, S.A.;
- EDP Comercial - Comercialização de Energia, S.A.;
- SU ELETRICIDADE, S.A.
- EDP Global Solutions - Gestão Integrada de Serviços S.A.; e
- EDPR PT - Promoção e Operação, S.A.

Based on the entities identified above, the corresponding Platforms and Business Enablement Functions (BEFs) were associated with them, in accordance with the new matrix organizational structure. The associated risk factors that may expose these entities to acts of corruption and related offences were identified, analysed, and assessed. This mapping, along with the risk assessment, can be found in Annexes II and IV.

2. Functions and responsibilities

The responsibilities associated with the Integrity/Anti-Corruption Specific Compliance Program, and consequently with the Corruption and Related Offences Risk Prevention Plan (RPP), are primarily grounded in the commitment of the governing bodies of the EDP Group, which establish the tone at the top by promoting a culture of compliance.

As part of their commitment to the development, implementation, and continuous improvement of the program, the Governing Bodies of the EDP Group—namely, the Executive Board of Directors (EBD) for EDP S.A., and the Management Team for EDP Renováveis, S.A.—approve and support the implementation of the RPP. They ensure that anti-corruption requirements are integrated into business processes and promote awareness on integrity matters. The governing bodies of the EDP Group's controlled companies/entities in Portugal are responsible, within their respective scopes, for the approval and implementation of the RPP, by translating it into their internal practices through specific procedures and controls.

The General and Supervisory Board (GSB) of EDP S.A., through its Financial Matters Committee (FMC), and the Board of Directors of EDP Renováveis, S.A., through the Audit, Control and Related Parties Committee (AUDC), among other duties, oversee the risk culture established in matters of Ethics and Integrity, approving and ensuring the execution of the E&C Activity Plan.

The implementation of this Compliance Program, and specifically the Corruption and Related Offences Risk Prevention Plan, also relies on a clear definition of responsibilities. These responsibilities are structured according to the governance model adopted for Compliance Management within the EDP Group, which is aligned with the concept of the three lines of defense model within the organization, complemented by a fourth external line of defense.

The 1st line of defense (Business) is, among other responsibilities, accountable for the daily and proactive management of compliance risks, including risks related to corruption and associated offenses, in accordance with established regulations. The primary parties responsible are the Decision Makers of each functional, business, or support unit, as well as all employees working within those areas.

The 2nd line of defense (E&C) is responsible for supporting the business in the identification, analysis, assessment, mitigation, and monitoring of risks, and for challenging and raising concerns about potential risks that may arise.

Within this scope, the EDP Group's E&C function is responsible for, among others, the following specific activities:

- Identifying, analysing, and classifying risks and situations that may expose the entity to acts of corruption and related offenses, in coordination with the relevant areas within the Platforms, Regions, BEFs, and GBS;
- Identifying preventive and corrective measures to reduce the likelihood and impact of the identified risks and situations, in coordination with the relevant areas within the Platforms, Regions, BEFs, and GBS;
- Promoting and coordinating the implementation, maintenance, and monitoring of the Integrity / Anti-Corruption Compliance Program;
- Promoting awareness and training activities on integrity-related matters for employees;
- Monitoring relevant legislative changes and assessing their impacts on activities, while informing the affected areas;
- Promoting the drafting and maintenance of normative documents related to Integrity;
- Acting in accordance with EDP Group's rules on document management and keeping documents related to the Integrity / Anti-Corruption Compliance Program up to date;
- Coordinating and supporting internal and external audits related to integrity;
- Overseeing the creation and management of action plans for implementing corrective and improvement measures arising from audits related to the Integrity / Anti-Corruption Compliance Program;
- Executing and coordinating the operationalization of the Third-Party Integrity Due Diligence (IDD) process, in line with defined methodologies and procedures;
- Receiving ethical complaints or reports, documenting and submitting the respective cases to the Ethics Committee;
- Monitoring each misconduct case through to closure, maintaining contact with the complainant when necessary and appropriate;
- Coordinating the strategy to consolidate and strengthen the EDP Group's ethical culture;
- Providing advisory and methodological support on Integrity matters to other BEFs, Global Business Services (GBSs), Platforms, and their respective employees;
- Monitoring and reporting to the EDP Group's governing bodies on the implementation and effectiveness of the Integrity / Anti-Corruption Compliance Program, including any incidents.

The Compliance Officer is responsible for ensuring and overseeing the implementation of the compliance program in accordance with the RGPC.

The E&C function and the Compliance Officer are supported by, among others, the Legal & Governance (L&G) department, which provides legal advice regarding the interpretation and assessment of impacts on the Group's activities.

To further support the implementation of this Plan and the Integrity / Anti-Corruption Compliance Program, Ethics & Compliance Focal Points (FPEC) have been appointed across Platforms and Regions. As subject-matter experts within the respective EDP Group companies, these focal points assist business areas in implementing approved procedures and E&C guidelines and report any incidents or concerns back to the E&C function.

The 3rd line of defense (Internal Audit) is responsible, among other tasks, for conducting independent audits of the E&C activities and the Compliance Management System. These audits may also be carried out by independent external entities with recognized competence in this area.

Additionally, External Audit is responsible for performing independent audits of the Compliance Management System, and for conducting testing of the control mechanisms under the Corruption and Related Offences Risk Prevention Plan, both at global and process-specific levels. Key controls identified for risk mitigation are tested and assessed annually, and remaining controls are reviewed on a rotational basis over a three-year period, ensuring comprehensive coverage.

3. Risk Management and Assessment Methodology

3.1. Risk Identification and Analysis

The development of this Corruption and Related Offences Risk Prevention Plan is based on the following methodology:

1. Identification of risks and risk factors associated with critical processes in the area of corruption and related offenses;
2. Risk assessment based on a scale of low (L), medium (M), or high (H) risk, depending on the likelihood of occurrence and potential impact, followed by the assignment of an overall inherent risk level;
3. Identification and implementation of preventive measures/controls to avoid or reduce the likelihood and impact of risks (residual risk assessment); and
4. Monitoring and control of risks, with the implementation of corrective measures where necessary.

In the initial phase of risk identification, in addition to determining the criminal offenses for which private sector legal entities may be held criminally liable, risk factors are also defined. These factors represent the conditions or circumstances that may increase the likelihood of unlawful acts occurring within each area of activity.

The following have been identified as risk factors associated with the main activities of EDP Group companies operating in Portugal that may carry the risk of non-compliance with legislation relating to corruption and related offenses:

- Relationship with Politically Exposed Persons or equivalents
- Granting of sponsorships and donations;
- Acceptance of gifts and invitations to events;
- Offering gifts and invitations to events;
- Access to funds;

- Contract with third parties or operate in countries included in the sanctions and embargoes lists;
- Business relations with individuals/entities from countries with high corruption index;
- Negotiation/contracting of private third-party entities (conflict of interest);
- Access to commercially sensitive/privileged or confidential information;
- Staff recruitment/management;
- Investments and joint ventures;
- Hiring of representatives or agents;
- Involvement with third parties associated with corruption or integrity risks;
- Intervention in legal proceedings.

The assessment of the applicability of risks and risk factors results from an analysis of the organization's context, in which both internal and external factors relevant to its purpose—and that may affect its ability to achieve the objectives of the Integrity / Anti-Corruption Specific Compliance Program—are identified. This assessment also considers national and international best practices and recommendations.

In the second phase of the process, the identified risk factor is analysed considering the activity area in which it was deemed to exist.

The risk factor is assessed based on the following criteria:

- a. Likelihood of occurrence: Evaluates how often a compliance breach has occurred or might occur within the organization;
- b. Impact: Assesses potential economic, operational, and reputational impacts.
  - Economic impact: The monetary effect of non-compliance risk, primarily related to potential financial penalties;
  - Operational impact: The effect of non-compliance risk on business continuity. This may affect specific processes or even the maintenance of certain operations;
  - Reputational impact: The effect of non-compliance risk on the company's image and reputation among stakeholders.

Based on the impact and likelihood of each risk factor, an overall risk rating (inherent risk) is determined.

3.2. Control Mechanism

EDP Group plans and implements its Integrity / Anti-Corruption Compliance Program through the deployment of a set of control mechanisms, which include:

- Establishing procedures and policies that outline integrity and anti-corruption guidelines, detail operational processes and associated controls, as well as the necessary resources;
- Monitoring and measurement (when applicable) of indicators related to the Integrity / Anti-Corruption Compliance Program;

- Defining and maintaining documented information to ensure that processes and corresponding controls are carried out as planned and comply with the requirements of the Integrity / Anti-Corruption Compliance Program.

For all corruption and related offense risks identified within the organization's context and outlined in this Plan, preventive measures have been implemented and are executed to reduce the likelihood of occurrence and potential impact.

These measures are classified into global controls (codes, policies, cross-functional standards) and operational controls (procedures and processes at an operational level).

The cross-cutting global controls, i.e., those capable of mitigating any risk factor related to corruption or related offenses, are framed within a set of key documents (codes, standards, policies) that incorporate the fundamental principles to be upheld in matters of integrity compliance. The most notable among these include:

- i. EDP Group Code of Ethics
- ii. Code of Conduct for Senior Management and Senior Financial Officers
- iii. EDP Group Integrity Policy
- iv. Whistleblowing Management Policy
- v. Compliance Standard

The operational preventive measures (application controls) associated with the mitigation of each risk factor are listed in Annex III.

Following the identification and implementation of preventive measures, an assessment is conducted of the residual risk level for each factor—i.e., the level of risk that remains after the implementation of mitigating controls. This evaluation considers both the attributes of those controls and their effectiveness. If the results of the most recent assessment indicate that a given control is inadequate or ineffective, it is excluded from the residual risk assessment.

3.3. Risk Assessment Results

Based on the current risk and control matrix, available in Annex IV of this document, results a total of 244 risk factors that were identified across the different business areas, and assessed according to the probability of occurrence (PO), degree of impact (DI), final inherent risk level (RL), residual risk.

As shown in the chart below, regarding the assessment and inherent risk classification of each risk factor included within each activity area, 87 factors were identified with a high risk profile and 157 with a medium risk level. After implementation of control mechanisms, it was possible to reduce the assessment of the different risk factors to levels considered acceptable. 95% of the residual risks are low, with the highest assessed residual risk reaching a medium level, as shown in the chart below:

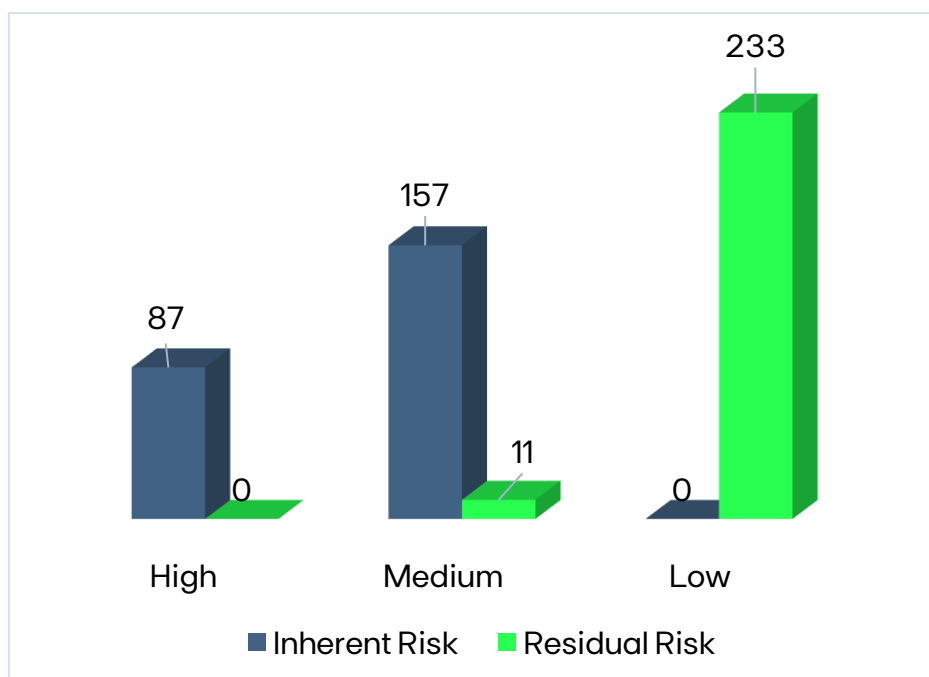

Chart 1 – Comparison between Inherent Risk and Residual Risk

The most relevant risk factors, with a medium residual risk rating, are detailed in the table below:

Risk	Risk factor	Platform	Process
Offering gifts and invitation to events	Active corruption (private sector)	BEF	Brand
Acceptance of gifts and invitations to events	Passive corruption (private sector)	BEF	Procurement
Acceptance of gifts and invitations to events	Passive corruption (private sector)	GBS	Procurement
Access to commercially sensitive/privileged or confidential information	Passive corruption (private sector)	BEF	Strategy & M&A
Through investments and joint ventures	Active corruption (public sector)	BEF	Strategy & M&A
Through investments and joint ventures	Active corruption (private sector)	BEF	Strategy & M&A

Risk	Risk factor	Platform	Process
Representatives or agents	Active corruption (private sector)	RGA	Business Development
Representatives or agents	Active corruption (public sector)	RGA	Business Development
Through investments and joint ventures	Active corruption (public sector)	RGA	Business Development
Through investments and joint ventures	Active corruption (private sector)	RGA	Business Development
Relationship with Politically Exposed Persons or equivalents	Active corruption (public sector)	Networks	Electricity distribution network management

Table 1 – Medium Residual Risks

The residual risk evaluated as medium is mitigated through the reinforcement of various Compliance mechanisms, following a logic of continuous improvement — namely through strengthened monitoring of the implemented control measures, as well as awareness and training initiatives.

Given the preventive mechanisms currently implemented and executed, no additional mitigation mechanisms have been identified as necessary.

IV. Monitoring

The monitoring of the Integrity / Anti-Corruption Compliance Program is ensured in accordance with the Governance Model, namely through:

- Documentation, periodic review of controls, and evidence-based implementation and recording of their execution;
- Ongoing monitoring of the Program's development and reporting on the implementation and progress of the respective initiatives;
- Internal consolidation and reporting of information on Program implementation progress, including (i) analysis of relevant risks; (ii) control implementation; (iii) instances of non-compliance; (iv) results of assessments or audits conducted by the Internal Audit Department or by a contracted external specialized entity, and (v) the degree of implementation of identified improvement opportunities;
- Periodic evaluation of the existence and implementation of improvement opportunities.

In addition, the implementation of the Corruption and Related Offenses Risk Prevention Plan (PPR) is subject to the following monitoring procedures:

- a) Preparation of an interim evaluation report in October for situations identified as high or maximum risk;
- b) Preparation of an annual evaluation report in April of the following year, including the status of preventive and corrective measures identified, as well as the monitoring results of their actual implementation.

The PPR is reviewed every three years or whenever there are changes in responsibilities, organizational, or corporate structure that justify the revision of any of its components.

V. Final Provisions

The PPR and its interim and annual evaluation reports shall be made available to EDP Group employees via the intranet and EDP's official website within 10 days of their implementation, revision, or issuance.
